“40 Under 40” By *The CPA Technology Advisor

Bethesda, MD, September 14, 2007 – Ian Shuman, CPA, a Director in Gelman, Rosenberg & Freedman’s Client Services Department, was recognized as one of the “40 Under 40” distinguished certified public accountants in the September issue of The CPA Technology Advisor.

The list, which honors individuals who began their public accounting careers during a time when relatively few people were joining the CPA profession, features CPAs from across America. Shuman is the only CPA representing the Washington Metropolitan area on the list.

Shuman has 10 years of public accounting experience providing auditing, consulting and general accounting services to all types of entities. He often serves in temporary controllership positions for clients, and assists in the recruiting and training of client accounting personnel when clients prefer to perform as many accounting functions as possible themselves. He frequently advises nonprofits and other businesses on best practices for setting up their accounting systems. Shuman also has spoken at presentations and seminars on the components of the financial statements of nonprofit organizations.
